

Lincoln Logs Bunk Bed

Price Range: $4,476.26-$6,580.63

My inspiration for this design comes from the classic children's toy, Lincoln Logs. Lincoln Logs encapsulated the feeling of limitless creation when I was a child. For this reason, I decided to create a fun, innovative, and youthful design for a bunk bed based on the toy that always brought a smile to my face. This bed is for any two children who wish to make their room truly a place of happiness and creativity. Designed to fit into a ninety-degree corner, this bed is sleek, yet commands attention. This bed is also designed with the need for storage in mind. Attached to the side of the bed is a large 3'1ft x 5'7 ft closet. This closet is perfect for holding all sorts of toys, as well as clothing. There is also a three-wall extension on top of the closet that provides a bedside table for the top bunk. My choice of material for this bed was cherry wood. I chose cherry to mimic the dark redwood look of the original Lincoln Logs. In addition, it gives the frame a more premium look and feel. I was willing to go over budget slightly for this wood as I believe that it gives the bed extra "life" that could not be provided by any other wood. However, this same bed can be made for $1566.25 less if poplar is used in place of cherry.
